Skills & Experience Summary

Stella is a highly motivated case manager, registered nurse and leader. With a naturally inquisitive nature and a 'can do' attitude, coupled with an understanding of human behaviour and a passion for excellence, she makes things happen with her innovative approach. Stella has over 30 years' experience in health and social care in a variety of settings including acute medicine, palliative care, community, brain injury and case management.

Stella qualified as a UK-registered nurse in 1993. After gaining her nursing degree in 1995, she worked in a variety of different healthcare settings including acute inpatient general medicine, community hospital rehabilitation for stroke and care of the elderly, community specialist palliative care including pain management, and brain injury. Stella has also provided excellent governance and clinical leadership to several teams during her career, including working as a CQC registered manager, in senior management roles, setting up new services, supervising staff and managing large budgets.

Stella's extensive experience is invaluable to her role as a case manager to clients and their families living with life changing injuries and conditions. She undertakes immediate needs assessments and coordinates provision of high-quality care and rehabilitation services for people with catastrophic injuries. Stella uses her skills in goal setting and facilitating complex family situations to support people to find resolutions and maximise their quality of life.

Stella's previous role in a community setting for Headway, included defining needs, coordinating care, providing support and signposting for people living with traumatic and acquired brain injury. This encompassed providing holistic support for co-morbid conditions alongside other trauma sustained, such as orthopaedic and spinal cord injuries. As part of this role, she was required to arrange personal care packages in the community, liaise with GPs and medical consultants, organise appropriate equipment and therapy, and oversee housing needs and referrals to social services.

Coupled with her diverse clinical experience, Stella has excellent communication skills; she is approachable and sensitive to psychological, emotional and physical needs. Stella has been a trustee for the charity Essex Carers Support for ten years and is passionate about supporting carers' wellbeing.
